STICKING TO THE POINT

The war department's obvious intention of fairness in the handling of political information to the army is detailed in a recent statement of policy. It is going to be a ticklish job, with critics waiting to pounce, but at least it is being approached without weaseling.

There is a corresponding obligation on the part of candidates to do likewise. What they have to say must be said concisely enough to be comprehended by men who will be in no mood for bombast. The information made available to service men will be a boomerang if candidates, themselves, do not adapt themselves to the chore the war department will perform.

To a very great extent, of course, service men will follow the recommendations of their relatives in correspondence with them. That will be an additional reason for clarity and conciseness. A V-mail letter will not convey the quality of a speaking voice on the radio, nor the photogenic quality of a face, nor any of the things which sometimes are believed to make and destroy political support. And no V-mail letter can do justice to the argument that Brown is a better man than White because Brown's brother-in-law is in a position to someone some good. Reduced to capsule form, political reasoning in 1944 must make sense. It is possible that one of the least bombastic campaigns in history will grow out of the necessity for sticking to the point.

TAKING THE WAR SERIOUSLY

There never has been a war in which civilians shared fully the sacrifice of fighting men. Even total war, with its mass armies, its wholesale bombing of civilian populations and total war production efforts, cannot give the combat soldier any reassurance that his friends and neighbors are sharing his sacrifices. He knows they are not; he is fighting for them, not with them. Most soldiers, of course, understand why it must be that way. There is not, after all, any way to put civilian into foxholes.

But the soldier does require that civilians, in their relatively secure positions, should measure up to the requirements of full civilian awareness of war and responsibility for its success. The American Institute of Public Opinion finds that among civilians, themselves, there is a preponderant opinion that the public is not taking the war seriously enough. Civilians, themselves, are aware of their inability to match the sacrifices of their fighting men, though it does not necessarily follow that they are at fault.

Public opinion polls also have revealed, significantly, that the public as a whole would prefer to be making greater personal sacrifices than are called for by the circumstances of a war being fought at a distance which makes it so remote from their experience that they must rely on imagination to comprehend what is entailed. There is no reason to believe, in other words, that the American public is indifferent to the war; it is, rather, keenly aware of the fact that it enjoys a special privilege of security.

JAPAN MUST BE NERVOUS TOO

Invasion suspense is not limited to the western hemisphere. Even if Americans overlook it, the Japanese are not going to forget that when the war with Germany has been forced to its bloody climax and won, the war in the Pacific will have the undivided attention of the victors.

There will be, in all probability, an invasion of Japan eventually. It lies somewhere in the future; there has been no D-day set. But invasion has been for many months the vital security problem of Japanese militarists as they received word of the steady disintegration of their new empire's outer defenses.

They know, of course, where they are strongest, where they are weakest, what kind of an invasion attempt would be hardest to resist, what kind would be easiest. What they have done about it or may be preparing to do is unknown outside their country; there is slight chance that it can be discovered until their island can be covered as completely by Allied air power as the Allies now cover Europe from the island of England.

When invasion of Europe comes, no one will follow its course more closely than the Japanese. They are the other partner in the Axis. Their turn will be next. Success against Germany will mean their ruin. Failure might mean their success. It should never be forgotten—though it often is—that the war in Europe no more can be dissociated from the war in Asia than the two continents, themselves.

VICTORY WITHOUT BATTLE

In Sea Power, official magazine of the Navy League of the United States, a clue to the apparent mystery of Japan's failure to use its fighting ships in defense of island outposts is furnished by Alexander Kiralfy. He explains that strategy which to Americans suggests defeatism is, in reality, Japan's established naval policy of victory without battle.

The Japanese doctrine runs exactly opposite to the western principle of engaging and defeating the enemy's fighting ships. It calls for evasion of all action in which there is doubt of the outcome. The writer observes that Japanese admirals do not stress the importance of control of the seas; that they stress the importance of control of land, with sea power employed to establish and maintain that control. Unless this is understood, he explains, their strategy in the Pacific will be misunderstood. It is not a confession of weakness, but adherence to policy, which causes the Japanese navy to evade battle.

Consequently, United States naval strategy must be accommodated to the Japanese plan. "Those who believe that we shall fight and win a great naval battle which will automatically force Japan to collapse are in for a rude awakening," warns Mr. Kiralfy. "Our real objectives are not Hirohito's relatively feeble warships. They are the formidable mainland and important conquered territories of Japan. Targets that orthodox sea power was directed to avoid must now be assailed. . . . The Japs will not be pushovers. The fact they refuse to fight a full-scale naval battle is not a sign that they are licked. It is simply an indication of the fact that they have a different plan. And on the basis of their past performances we can be certain it is a good one."

For Wednesday, May 10

CONTINUED beneficent astral influences may assure the happy materialization of exceptional prospects for expansion, growth and financial returns for work well and skillfully inaugurated, together with enhanced personal popularity, influence and romantic happiness as well. It is a time for aiming toward cherished goals, with ingenuity, sagacity and the use of social or friendly influence where this worthily serves a desired purpose or ambition. There may be certain lures or dangers besetting such expansive programs, but with precaution, thrift, acumen, results are assured. The romantic or youthful element is captivating.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be on the brink of a progressive and prosperous year, with exceptional openings for putting forward expansive programs, in which the friendly influence of those in financial position and public prestige assumes importance. While ingenuity and acumen are of prime significance, the cooperation of social, romantic, professional or political contacts may be confidently sought for a good cause. Keep alert to duplicity or misconception in agreements, shun extravagance. In romantic attachments or any youthful aspirations there are likely to be joyous celebrations, shun excesses.

A child born on this day may be well endowed for success, efficient and talented, but also blessed by good fortune and the support of those in high places. A romantic life may bring happiness, but a trend to extravagance in pleasure should be curbed.

After the war we will need from seven million to 10 million additional civilian jobs beyond those available in 1940, and most of the jobs must be found in the field of private endeavor. I think it is extremely important that the planning of public works projects at the federal, state and local levels be intensified.—Paul G. Hoffman, chairman Committee for Economic Development.

A Jap officer suddenly popped out of a pillbox and came running with a big sword cocked. He took about half a dozen steps when our best squirrel shooters caught him. Four hundred bullets must've hit that Jap. He took off into the air and I don't think he has stopped rolling yet.—Lt. Col. Herbert W. Radcliffe, 37th division on Bougainville.

Today we feel that the world will be so weakened after this war that it surely will have learned its lesson. Yet in 1919 we thought the world must surely have been convinced that not even to the victor could war bring rewards to outweigh its cost.—British Ambassador Lord Halifax.

There are two ways in which our patrimony of liberty can be lost. It can be taken away from us by frontal assault as the Axis is threatening to do. This is a danger we are surely overcoming. But it can also be lost by default.—Eric A. Johnston, president United States Chamber of Commerce.

Use of Thiamine To Relieve Itching

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

WELL, HERE it is. Understand, I take no responsibility for the statements hereunder following. I have not tried it out myself. All I know is what I read in responsible medical journals. But I have good authority: it is the Minnesota Medical Journal in the issue of September, 1943. And that makes it at least credible. Furthermore it will not do anybody any harm to try it. The remedy is not dangerous in any case, and anyone can try it.

It appears that Vitamin B will relieve itching of any kind including mosquito bites.

I had better begin with the story of the 2-year-old boy who had to be kept indoors in the summer because of the viciousness with which he was attacked by mosquitoes whenever he went out. When he was bitten the lumps lasted for days and gave him no rest. After receiving 40 milligrams of thiamine (which is part of Vitamin B complex) he slept all night in comfort. He was bitten by mosquitoes the next day, but the bites did not itch. By evening all welts, old and new, had disappeared.

Mosquitoes Avoided Child

In another case where a child had received large doses of thiamine the mosquitoes quit coming around him. When large doses are given a characteristic odor given off from the skin is noted and it is supposed this might cause the mosquitoes to avoid such a person. Although, as an old-time woodsman with a long experience with pennyroyal and such like, I should say with the Irishman in Bill McBride's story—"It's very difficult to deceive a mosquito."

The doctor who discovered this use for thiamine had his first experience with a 13-year-old girl who had chilblains. After taking 120 milligrams of thiamine hydrochloride within eight hours she had relief from the discomfort and itching.

It has been used with relief in hives, poison ivy, scabies (ordinary itch), itching ears, pityriasis rosea, measles and chicken pox. I see no reason why it should not be tried in such annoying conditions as pruritus vulvae, about which people are always writing me and about the relief of which I have never known anything to tell. Nobody seems to know what the cause of this affection is, and so most of the writers of textbooks on skin diseases call it a neurosis.

In Older Persons

Nor do I see any reason why this new remedy should not be used in the generalized pruritus, or itching of old people. This must be due very largely to the senile atrophy of the skin; anyone can see from the thinning skin of old people that it is one of the first organs to show the great involution. We know that bathing and excessive use of soap makes elderly people itch. Furthermore because their digestive juices and digestive absorption are likely to be low, old people are naturally prone to be deficient in Vitamin B. At least here we have an experimental field of possibly good therapeutic results in a set of conditions where heretofore we have been nearly helpless.

I do not believe, however, that in these cases, especially the children with hives, that thiamine acts by supplying a vitamin deficiency. Several of the vitamins when given in large doses seem to act in a way entirely independently of their functions as food; in fact, they act like drugs with a pharmacological action. This may be the explanation of the action of thiamine in itching.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

M: What do you think of curatements to help have a baby? E. C.: Is there any chance of getting pregnant after having the womb curetted?

Answer: These two questions are put down together to show different views on the same subject. My opinion would be that curettement does not increase the chances of pregnancy and it certainly does not prevent it.

MARCHING TO MUSIC

Editor, The News: From observation the past few years of the Memorial Day parade, I am convinced that something should be done about it. The boys and girls participating in it, and the various organizations make a good turn out and the possibility of a good parade, but as it has been up to now, it's not a march—it's a rout. One hates to criticize one's own high school band, but playing for a parade is much different from playing for a football game.

To be definite, the kids start running from Broadway and the poor little things keep on running all the way up North Lincoln avenue hill. Now, they no doubt have as much pep as the high school boys and girls, but their legs just simply aren't as long. They have to run to keep up with them. Besides the tots, there are the veterans. Two years ago I watched those men struggle to keep the band's pace and looking miserable about it, but last year I noticed that they all took a leisurely pace in spite of the band's tempo. They aren't teen-agers either. Out at the cemetery, I've heard innumerable kids say, "Gee whiz, I don't see why they have to make us run all the way!"

The kids are given inducements—candy, theater tickets, etc.—to turn out for the parade, but the band is going to spell the effect of all the inducements.

Memorial day is not a day of jubilation. It's a day to pause in remembrance of brave men who fought to keep this country solid.

A Model is Murdered ~ BABS LEE

CHAPTER SIX

Grange squinted at Argus speculatively.

"Well," he began, "at nine this morning we got a call from the superintendent of the building where Lucy-Syria, lived and he tells us there's been a murder. So we go up to investigate."

"How did the superintendent know? Did he hear a shot?"

"No. It seems that no one heard the shot. But Syria worked for a model-agent named Roger Flagg and this morning she didn't turn up for an early appointment. He had his secretary call her. The line was busy and finally the operator reported that the line must be out of order. You see, Steele, the phone was off the hook, lying near the body. Well, they finally called the superintendent and told him to go upstairs and tell Miss Verne to get in touch with the office immediately. The man knocked and there wasn't any answer, so he opened the door with a passkey and found the body, then he called the police," Grange paused.

"Did you find the gun?"

"No. No fingerprints either."

"What time was she murdered?"

"As near as the doc can figure it must have been around midnight. Finding the telephone off the hook that way makes it look like she might have been shot," Grange said.

"She still had her hat and coat on like she just came in."

"Did it look as if the place had been broken into?"

"That's a funny thing too. The windows were all locked from the inside and, according to the superintendent, so was the front door. She had some money in her bag and a big diamond ring on her finger. He settled back in his chair. "So it wasn't robbery."

"Did she have a maid?"

"Yes. She was in the chips all right. The maid came in while we were there. She said she worked for her part time. We couldn't get much out of her except that Syria had quite a few men friends but not many women." Grange smiled.

"I can believe that," said Argus.

"Did she mention any one in particular?"

"She said something about this Pierre Sturgis you mentioned. I gave a detective checking up on him now. The elevator boy said Syria came home last night and she acted like she was plenty sore about something."

Butch came in and announced that Inspector Grange was wanted on the telephone. Argus finished his breakfast and Butch took away the tray. Grange returned.

"That was Smith, the guy I sent over to get Sturgis' story," he said.

"It don't sound so good. Seems Syria had dinner with him and some friends named Carter. Syria walked out on the party about eleven-thirty and Sturgis and the Carters left a few minutes later. Sturgis left the Carters in front of the Maison Restaurant and went for a walk."

"A walk?"

"That's what he told Smith," Grange nodded as if to confirm his own statement. "Know anything about him?"

"I met him last evening for the first time," Argus said.

"It seems he was in love with Syria, but last night was the first time she'd been out with him in a month. He told Smith they'd had some sort of misunderstanding. Looks like my next stop'll have to be Sturgis' studio."

"Did Syria say anything to you last night, when you ran into her?"

Argus recalled Syria's tenseness and her whispering, "I may need your help," and debated whether or not to tell the Inspector. He finally decided it would do no harm.

"Any idea what she meant?" Grange asked.

"No," said Argus lighting a cigarette, "not the slightest."

"Syria's come up in the world since we knew her," Grange remarked. "She lived in an expensive apartment for a working girl—a penthouse, in fact. Been there almost a year now. The lease is in her own name. She has a Van Gogh original hanging on the wall. As I told you we found a man's robe hanging among her clothes. Came from Frippey's. We're checking that too. You wouldn't know whether some one was puttin' up for her, would you?"

"No," said Argus.

"Did she mention Dancer Martini's name last evening?"

Argus repeated what had been said and mentioned Ellen Curtis' story about the sallow-complexioned man to whom Syria had been seen talking. Grange looked serious.

"I don't know," said Argus.

"Aside from that picture of me you found, weren't there any phone numbers or addresses lying around the apartment—or letters?"

"We found a couple of addresses in her bag. One was Flagg's office and the other was Sturgis' studio. The maid said she had a list by the phone, but whoever bumped her off must've stolen it. We couldn't find it. As for her mail, there were a few bills and—" Grange chuckled, "a letter from a Rajah in India who'd seen her picture in a bathing suit and proposed to her by mail. Said she could be head wife of his harem. The maid said that Syria didn't get many letters and when she did she destroyed them."

"Bright girl! Did the maid remember any of the names or numbers on the phone list?"

"She said she'd seen Sturgis' name and Flagg's and one beginning with 'Car'—she couldn't remember the rest of it. She was pretty frightened by the murder."

"May have been the Carters she was out with last night," said Argus. "Or Bill Carstairs."

"The playboy?"

"Yes. He phoned her last night. He was at the Penguin Club too. He was with a blonde—a blonde who was carrying a gun."

Grange sat forward. "A gun, eh? What's her name?"

"Dorothy."

"Dorothy? Dorothy what?"

"I don't know. Why don't you ask Carstairs?"

"I will," Grange made a notation. "By the way, what time did you get home last night?"

"Around twelve, I guess. I didn't notice. Miss Curtis and I had dinner and I took her home around 11:30. He grinned at Grange. "Am I on your list of suspects too?"

"Just a routine check-up. After all, you did know Syria Verne pretty well and some one—not me understand—might get inquisitive." Grange smiled knowingly. "Whoever killed her was clever. Careful not to leave any evidence around. No one was seen going in or out of her place at the time of the murder. I just had an idea—"

"That detective might turn criminal and attempt to commit the perfect crime? Is that it, Herr Himmler?"

"Grange agreed with a grin that took the sting out of his words. "Did Syria have any relations?"

"Plenty of illicit ones, I suppose."

"No. You know what I mean—relatives."

"When I knew Syria," said Argus, "she told me she was an orphan and that an old couple in Kansas had adopted her and brought her up, but they died before she came to New York."

"Well, if she had any relatives I guess they'd read about it in the papers," Grange put away his notebook. "Guess I'd better be shovin'." He slapped his knee as he rose.

"I'd like to see those paintings of yours some day, Inspector. I never did figure out why a guy who was as good an artist as you are ever became a cop."

Grange looked down at his feet. "What's the matter with bein' a cop? You got to see a lot of life. Besides, my old man was a sergeant—Lord rest his soul!"

"So that's it!" Argus said.

"Yeah, and I'm glad I am. What I've learned ain't hurt my painting any. You know, Steele, we've both seen a lot of murder, but this time I'm sore. I was kind'a fond of Lucy but I had a hunch she'd hit a snag some day. She was too attractive for her own good." He shook his gray head sadly. "By the way, who painted that nude?"

He went over to examine it again. "It's a little too sexy for really good art—but it's effective."

"A man I helped send up the river. He did it just before he got the chair. He told the warden he wanted me to have it." Argus paused. "Strange, isn't it? Apparently both murderers and police inspectors have artistic impulses at times."

"I knew a bank robber once who liked to knit."

"Probably did it to keep his fingers nimble for cracking safes," Argus said. "Say, who was that beautiful damsel you were with last night around 11:30?"

Grange was completely taken aback. The color rose in his high cheekbones.

UNITED STATES PLANES AND SUBS HIT JAP BASES

ANOTHER GRAVEYARD for Japanese planes was made at Truk in the Caroline Islands by American dive bombers and torpedo planes, when 126 enemy planes were destroyed there in the latest Allied raid. Big naval guns also shelled Truk's primary eastern outposts of Ponape and the Satawan Islands. American submarines also sank several warships near the Bay of Bengal. A score of Japanese barges was sunk off Wewak, where isolated Japs try to escape from United States forces. (International)

It means something to all these people when you buy a War Bond

WHEN YOU BUY a War Bond, it affects a great many people.

FIRST, it buys weapons for the American boys overseas.

SECOND, it encourages our fighting allies, by demonstrating that the American people are in this scrap to the finish.

THIRD, it brings cheer to the starving and oppressed in Nazi-occupied territories, because it means a quicker end of hunger and tyranny.

FOURTH, it discourages Hitler and Tojo—and is a punch at the morale of the German and Japanese home fronts.

FIFTH, it helps to guarantee peace and liberty to future generations of Americans.

AND THE BLANK SPACE? Put yourself in that picture. For when you buy a War Bond, it certainly means as much to you as to anyone else in the world.

It's a wonderfully advantageous way to invest your money. It pays $4 for every $3 you put in. It's safe. And it'll give you a financial nest egg—a nest egg you can use after the war for such things as buying a home, educating your children, and traveling.

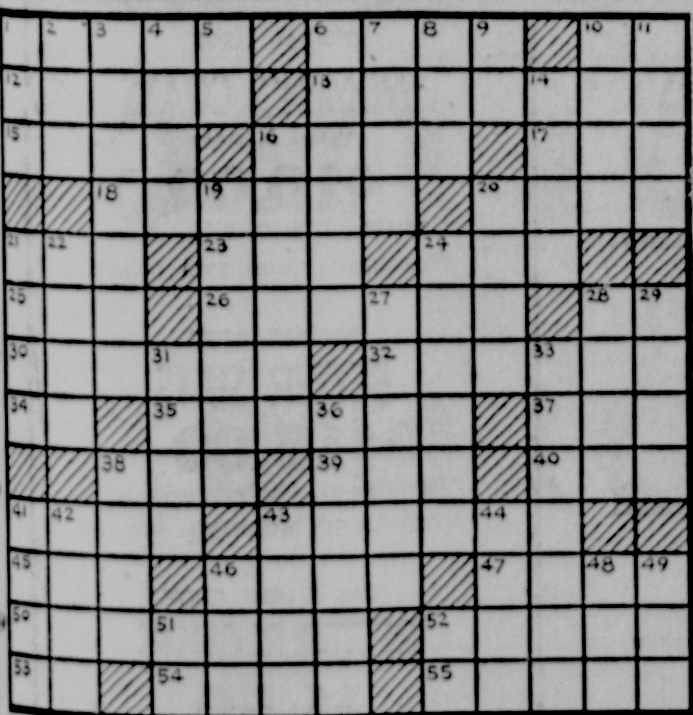

So buy more War Bonds right now—TODAY!

Let's all KEEP BACKING THE ATTACK!

This Space Is a Contribution To America's All-Out War Effort By

Completely Tropical

By PRUNELLA WOOD

A VISIT in Mexico by one of our blithe and take-a-chance American designers has resulted in colorful semi-sports clothes which delight the eye and make us feel good-neighborly.

Not only Latin American line but color has fascinated this roving creator, and none of her new models better demonstrate this fact than the dress sketched here. Perfect for the house, for the resort or country luncheon, for the little evening when the moonlight is warm, both the hot pink tint, the drawstring line at neck and sleeves, are Mexican as a tamale.

The fabric is a sheer, rough cloth partly cotton, the rest rayon. The inset belt is lime yellow with lime green and white braid embroidery detailing it.

Stop Awhile-- And Smile

(By Associated Press)
DEVIL'S HOOFPRINTS
OUTLAST 125 YEARS

BATH, N. C. — The fence which property owners put around the famous hoofprints of Bath has been removed, and attempts to capitalize on the legend given up, at least for the duration. But the hoofprints are there, just as they have been for over 125 years, and belief in North Carolina's most persistent ghost story is still strong in the neighborhood.

In 1813, the story goes, a rather profane gentleman named Jesse Elliott was in a horse race one Sabbath morning when he should have been in church. He shouted to his steed either to take him to a winner or take him to Hell. Whereupon the obliging horse is reported to have dug his hooves into the soft earth and hurled the rider against a tree, killing him instantly.

Ever since then the prints made by the horse's hooves have resisted eradication and awed natives think Elliott was astride old Harry himself.

IT ALL COMES OUT IN THE WASH

CAMP VAN DORN, Miss. — If someone is missing in a company here, he was probably put in a barracks bag and tossed off to the camp's quartermaster laundry by mistake. Everything else is.

Keys, dogtags, matches, locks, check books, glasses, false teeth, canteens, love letters, ration books, fountain pens, war bonds, insurance papers, tools, live ammunition and even a wallet with $160 in bills, have been found in GI wash bags.

However, finders are not keepers and all is returned.

SINKING SAILOR DOWNS TWO ZEROS

PONCA CITY, Okla. — His submarine was sinking and the order to abandon ship had been given but Robert Edwards, 17-year-old fireman, first class, couldn't resist the temptation to man one of the surface guns and fire at two attacking Zeros. Both of the planes plunged into the sea as the submarine crew cheered. The submarine crew was picked up later by a U. S. cruiser.

FENCE FOR LOCOMOTIVES

MEXICO CITY — Police found two complete locomotives in a junk yard and arrested the proprietor for receiving property stolen from the government-owned National Railways.

A RAIN OF NICKELS

GREAT FALLS, Mont. — A woman who complained that "a kind Providence has made it possible for me to pay my taxes" placed three $20 bills and 2,800 nickels on the desk of M. T. Linafe, county treasurer. The nickels weighed 35 pounds and two deputies spent several hours counting them.

ADVERTISING WITH A PULL

GARDEN CITY, Kan. — DeWitt Craft recently advertised in the Garden City Telegram for a heavy disc plow. A reply came from England. Pvt. Clinton C. Crouse, who farmed near Garden City before entering the Army, read the ad in his home town newspaper and wrote that he had just the outfit sought.

ALL-OUT WAR EFFORT

CLEMSON, S. C. — J. H. Tannery of Westminster, Route 1, works on his farm from dawn to 2 p. m. From 3 to 11 p. m., he works in a mill. On Sundays he preaches in a community church.

Strikers Vote Today

CANTON, May 9. — The 1200 idle workers at the Timken Roller Bearing Co.'s closed Gambrinus steel mill vote today on a proposal for ending the walkout which began Wednesday among inspectors and inspectors' helpers and spread to all employees. Herb Secker, local vice president of the CIO-United Steelworkers, reported.

Washington Round-up

News and Views, Briefly On What's Going On In Capital

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The charge by John L. Lewis that New Deal politicians had wrecked efforts to reunite his United Mine Workers (UMW) and the American Federation of Labor (AFL) brought a prompt Democratic disclaimer today.

Said Sen. Tamm, of Delaware, a labor committee member: "There is no political reason why the merger shouldn't take place and I am disappointed that the two organizations have not been able to get together."

Sen. Ellender, of Louisiana said: "I don't blame the AFL for not taking John L. Lewis. Real honest-to-goodness labor does not want to have anything to do with any union that John L. Lewis has anything to do with."

LEND LEASE

Prospects that Congress may impose new limitations on the use of lend-lease funds appeared today in the wake of senate approval of legislation extending the war aid program for another year beyond July 1. Still awaiting action is the administration's request for an additional $3,500,000,000 in lend lease appropriations and some senators are out to make certain funds are used for war purposes and nothing else.

ROADS

The house roads committee will meet tomorrow to try to settle an old controversy—what is the best way to allocate federal funds for highways. Postwar road planning has given rise to two problems: How much shall the state contribute, how shall the state's population or its miles of federal aid roads determine the ratio of government allocation.

Three hundred million years ago one-third of the United States was covered by tangled swamps.

When you're canning food this year...

be sure to take into account the different types of jar tops

War-time has forced upon home-canners as a conservation measure, certain new types of jar tops. For best results it is important to understand the differences in these materials. See the directions below —and follow them carefully.

1.

Zinc Jar Cap
Rubber Ring
Sealing Surface

1. Place a new, wet rubber flat on sealing surface.
2. Fill sterilized jars to within 1/2" of top for fruits; 1" for vegetables.
3. Wipe top of rubber free of seeds, pulp, or syrup.
4. Screw zinc cap tight and Turn Back one-fourth turn. Process.
5. Screw cap tight at once after removing jar from canner.
6. Do not invert to cool.

2.

Metal Band
Glass Lid
Rubber Ring
Sealing Surface

1. Examine top edge of jar. Must be smooth and even.
2. Fill sterilized jars to within 1/2" of top for fruits; 1" for vegetables.
3. Wipe top of jar free of seeds, pulp, or syrup.
4. Dip rubber in hot water and fit around projection on glass top. Rubber must lie flat between jar closure and top of jar.
5. Hold glass top in place and tighten metal band tight and Turn Back one-fourth turn. Process.
6. Screw metal band tight at once when removing from canner.
7. Cool jar in upright position.
8. Screw band may be removed twelve hours after cooling.
9. To open—invert case knife between jar closure and rubber ring to admit air and break seal.

3.

Glass Lid
Rubber Ring
Sealing Surface

1. Examine top. Use new rubbers.
2. Fill sterilized jars to within 1/2" of top for fruits; 1" for vegetables.
3. Wipe jar top free of seeds and pulp.
4. Place hot, wet rubber on sealing shoulder next top of jar.
5. Place lid on jar to rest on the rubber.
6. Place long wire bail on top of glass lid to rest in groove. Process.
7. Remove jars when processed, snap short wire bail down to complete seal.
8. Cool upright.
9. To open, raise lower bail and insert knife between lid and rubber ring to admit air to break seal.

4.

Metal Band
Metal Cap with Gum Seal Attached
Sealing Surface

1. Examine top of jar. Use new metal caps with gummed seal attached.
2. Fill sterilized jars to within 1/2" of top for fruits; 1" for vegetables.
3. Pour boiling water over lids and let stand for 10 minutes before using.
4. Wipe top of jar free of pulp, seeds, and syrup.
5. Place metal cap with gummed seal attached on top of jar. (White or lacquered side down.)
6. Hold metal cap in place and screw metal band down to finger tip tightness only. Process.
7. Do not retighten band after processing.
8. Do not invert to cool.
9. Metal band may be removed twelve hours after cooling.
10. To open—puncture lid and pry off.

City Leagues Will Open Softball Season Next Monday Night

BASEBALL'S ACUTE STAGE PASSED NOW AS DRAFT SETTLES

Night Games To Start In Three Major League Cities Wednesday

BY JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baseball's manpower problem appears today to have passed the acute stage as the major leagues settle down to a six-month run with pleasant prospects of tight pennant races and night baseball to bolster mid-week attendance figures.

When the big show resumes tomorrow, after a two-day travel interlude, they'll turn on the lights at Washington, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh and the "owl ball" season will be under way.

In addition to the American and National leagues, the complete minor league setup is in operation with three double-A circuits, one A-1 league, one A circuit, two class B and class D organizations. So far, nobody has had to play with less than nine men.

Since the manpower problem became at least temporarily stabilized such stars as Spud Chandler of the Yankees and Joe Egan of the Reds have been taken but many others still are playing.

Several players on each big league club are on leave from the armed services after passing their physical exams. In that list, among others, are Gee Walker of the Reds, Damon Phillips, Connie Ryan and Butch Nieman of the Boston Braves, Bobby Bragan of Brooklyn, Johnny Lindell of the Yanks and Ray Hamrick of the Phils.

The stream heading toward the service is partially matched by a steady influx of war veterans who are finding their way into the national game. Tom Warren, a Brooklyn pitcher who was at Casablanca, belongs in that category as does Jack Kramer, St. Louis Browns mound sensation who did a hitch in the Navy.

Rudy York's selection sent Detroit stock on the upgrade and the acceptance or rejection of Ken Keltner of Cleveland will affect their chances. Keltner was held over for further examination yesterday when called at a Milwaukee induction center.

Buddy Roar of the Tribe was transferred from a Buffalo to a Cleveland war job and is available for part-time duty, as is Denny Galehouse, the Browns' week-end pitcher.

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, May 9.—In a bulletin urging all National Boxing association members to foster boxing in schools for its physical training value and to prepare future soldiers for more serious fighting, Ed Greene says: "Do not let them any longer feel that boxing is exclusively of the out-moded rowdy school."

It was hardly necessary to explain that this program has nothing to do with developing guys who'll hand out a punch in the nose for the cash involved. . . . Billy Thompson, the Nashville Banner sports scribe, claims a record in receiving three (count 'em) greetings from Uncle Sam in three weeks.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR
Jimmie Murphy, Canton, Ill., Daily Ledger: "So Charlie Grimm returns to the Chicago Cubs as manager. . . . Well, if nothing else, the club is certain to have a good banjo player." . . . (Eds. Note: Off the weekend edition, it is nothing else; and you can't make baseballs with a banjo.)

A ROOKIE A DAY
Hal Kline, Indians' pitcher: Spent his kid days in St. Louis cultivating the friendship of Al Smith, the Tribe's only other lefty, but 20-year-old Hal got to be a big leaguer a lot faster than Al did. . . . As a child Kline burned two fingers on his right hand so badly he became a portlander. . . . Once pitched two games of American Legion ball in one afternoon, allowing one and two hits. . . . In his first start this year limited the White Sox to five blows in seven innings.

VETERAN KNUCKLER - By Jack Sords

It's Pensive Against Field In Saturday Preakness Race

(By Associated Press)
BALTIMORE, May 9.—Saturday's 54th running of the Preakness stables shaped up today as an effort by nine or 10 colts to knock Calumet farm's Pensive off the pinnacle he attained three days ago when he whipped 15 three-year-olds in the richest of all Kentucky derbies.

Barring mishaps in shipping or late training, it appeared that all six of the Preakness eligibles who started at Churchill Downs would go in the mile and three sixteenths second leg of the triple crown, and that four or more others would seek the $50,000-added purse.

A. C. Ernst's Alorier arrived in Baltimore yesterday, and Pensive, Gramps Image, Gay Bit, Skytracer, and Stir Up, Derby favorite who finished third, were scheduled to show up today.

Six colts were named for today's survivor stakes, final pimiento test for the preakness, but only two of them were eligible for the run for the black-eyed susans.

They were W. L. Brann's Picotee, regarded as a probable starter if he performs satisfactorily today, and Hal Price Headley's Megogo, whose Preakness chances were extremely slim.

Other non-derby colts being pointed for an attempt to stymie Pensive's triple crown aspirations were Platter, the George D. Widener

Flashes Of Life

(By Associated Press)
EAST LIVERPOOL, A new order by Service-Safety Director Vincent McGeehan promises a week's bread and water diet for habitual drunkards found loitering in downtown streets.

CINCINNATI—Marshall Williams, 32, entered a drug store to make a telephone call. The manager, unaware that Williams was in the telephone booth, locked the door and went home.

His call completed, Williams emerged into darkness, called police for help. It took two hours to find out the name of the manager, and it was 1 a. m. before Williams got out.

SPRINGFIELD—School children collected 20,000 pounds of tin cans, then watched Hazel Abston christen the railroad car of scrap with a bottle of pop.

CANTON — A harassed shopper with arms full of parcels boarded the bus, observers reported, and looked just like any other shopper, except for one thing—there was a large nude of roast of beef draped over one arm.

MANSFIELD — A white rock chicken on a local farm laid an egg weighing almost eight ounces and measuring 7 1/2 by 10 inches. The egg was placed in a downtown window to dispel skeptics' doubts.

MARION—A trio of women workers who share a ride to work were perturbed one morning when their car stopped dead quite a distance from their plant.

A nearby church bulletin board proclaimed, "You Can't Thump a Ride To Heaven," and neither the workers found, could they thump a ride to work. They walked.

LOSS OF KELTNER BLOW TO INDIANS

(By Associated Press)
DAVISVILLE, R. I., May 9.—The Cleveland Indians play a pair of seven-inning exhibition contests at Army camps in this area today as a prelude to the opening of their 14-game eastern invasion against the Boston Red Sox tomorrow.

The Tribe's pennant stock was several points lower today after news that Third Baseman Ken Keltner had passed his preinduction physical examination at Milwaukee and would be called for active duty in the Navy.

Keltner's loss will leave the club with the absolute minimum of four infielders. Jimmy Grant, obtained last year from the Chicago White Sox, will inherit the third base post. Grant, along with Shortstop-Manager Lou Boudreau and Mickey Rocco, is 4-F, but Second Baseman Russ Peters is 1-A. In an emergency Outfielder Roy Cullenbine could play third base and Pitcher Steve Gromek has seen service at the hot corner.

Keltner quit his Milwaukee war job to report to the Indians' spring training camp and asserted at the time, "I'm a ballplayer and I'll continue to play until I am called for duty in the armed services." Several days later he was reclassified from 2-B to 1-A.

Mel Harder, who has spent 17 seasons in the major leagues, all with the Indians, will try for his 200th mound victory in the series opener against the Red Sox.

Five Class "A", Four "B" Teams Ready To Play But Additional Clubs Needed

With an assured field of five teams in Class A and four in Class B and several teams still to be heard from, the two city softball leagues are slated to get under way Monday, according to Joe Kelley, league manager, who set the deadline for entries in the leagues at Thursday night.

Kelley has been guaranteed five entries in Class A, including his own championship Recreation outfit, a Paxson team, Monk's aggregation and an entry from The Salem News and the Salem China company.

Plans call for closing of entries Thursday night and Kelley is anxious to get at least one more team in Class A and two in Class B. Several of the local plants have signified interest in the leagues but Kelley hasn't any word yet regarding teams from them. Players and teams interested are urged to contact Kelley at the Memorial building as soon as possible.

In Class B the Columbians will participate, along with the Rams, the Zion church representatives and the Park A. C. squad. Several other junior league organizations have signified intentions of getting teams together and Kelley expects to have at least two six-team leagues by Thursday's deadline.

Open Season Monday
Schedules for the season's first round, slated to begin next Monday night, will be drawn up Friday, Kelley said, and will be announced either Friday or Saturday of this week.

Back again for another crack at their championship in Class A will be the strong Recreation squad. Of the winning team they had last season, the Rees have only lost two men.

Red Hall will be missing in the left field spot for 1944 and Bill

City Leagues Will Open Softball Season Next Monday Night

BASEBALL'S ACUTE STAGE PASSED NOW AS DRAFT SETTLES

Night Games To Start In Three Major League Cities Wednesday

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baseball's manpower problem appears today to have passed the acute stage as the major leagues settle down to a six-month run with pleasant prospects of tight pennant races and night baseball to bolster mid-week attendance figures.

When the big show resumes tomorrow, after a two-day travel interlude, they'll turn on the lights at Washington, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh and the "owl ball" season will be under way.

In addition to the American and National leagues, the complete minor league setup is in operation with three double-A circuits, one A-1 league, one A circuit, two class B and class D organizations. So far, nobody has had to play with less than nine men.

Since the manpower problem became at least temporarily stabilized such stars as Spud Chandler of the Yankees and Joe Beggs of the Reds have been taken but many others still are playing.

Several players on each big league club are on lend-lease from the armed services after passing their physical exams. In that list, among others, are Gee Walker of the Reds, Damon Phillips, Connie Ryan and Butch Nieman of the Boston Braves, Bobby Bragan of Brooklyn, Johnny Lindell of the Yanks and Ray Hamrick of the Phils.

The stream heading toward the service is partially matched by a steady influx of war veterans who are finding their way into the national game. Tom Warren, a Brooklyn pitcher who was at Casablanca, belongs in that category as does Jack Kramer, St. Louis Browns mound sensation who did a hitch in the Navy.

Rudy York's rejection sent Detroit stock on the upgrade and the acceptance or rejection of Ken Keltner of Cleveland will affect their chances. Keltner was held over for further examination yesterday when called at a Milwaukee induction center.

Buddy Rosar of the Tribe was transferred from a Buffalo to a Cleveland war job and is available for part-time duty, as is Denny Galehouse, the Browns' week-end pitcher.

It's Pensive Against Field In Saturday Preakness Race

(By Associated Press)

BALTIMORE, May 9.—Saturday's 54th running of the Preakness stakes shaped up today as an effort by nine or 10 colts to knock Calumet farm's Penitence off the pinnacle he attained three days ago when he whipped 15 three-year-olds in the richest of all Kentucky derbies.

Barring mishaps in shipping or late training, it appeared that all six of the Preakness eligibles who started at Churchill Downs would go in the mile and three sixteenths second leg of the triple crown, and that four or more others would seek the $50,000-added purse.

A. C. Ernst's Alotter arrived in Baltimore yesterday, and Pensive, Gramps Image, Gay Bit, Skytrac, and Stir Up, Derby favorite who finished third, were scheduled to show up today.

Six colts were named for today's survivor stakes, final pimiento test for the preakness, but only two of them were eligible for the run for the black-eyed susans.

They were W. L. Brann's Picotee, regarded as a probable starter if he performs satisfactorily today, and Hal Price Headley's Megogo, whose "preakness chances were extremely slim."

Other non-derby colts being pointed for an attempt to stymie Pensive's triple crown aspirations were Platter, the George D. Widener son of Pilate who won more money as a juvenile than any of the other probables; Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Styne, second to Stir Up in the Wood memorial; and Mrs. Donald H. Peters' Bull Dandy, who ran seventh in that same pre-derby race.

With the big race still four days away, there was little doubt that pensive would be the crowd's choice to win a second Preakness for owner Warren Wright and Trainer Ben A. Jones, who captured their first with Whirlaway in 1941.

Ten starters would make this Preakness—as was the Derby—the richest in its long history, and worth slightly over $60,000, the 1928 record purse by Victorian.

Milnar Says Browns Will Win Pennant

(By Associated Press)

FORT McLELLAN, Ala., May 9.—You can put it down as official now, folks—those hustling St. Louis Browns and not the New York Yankees are going to nail down the American league pennant for 1944.

That's the opinion of tall, husky Al Milnar, a Cleveland pitcher for seven and a half years before the Indians peddled him to the Browns late last season.

"I've said the Brownsies would win the flag all winter," chuckled Milnar, now training in a specialist outfit at this army post. "It's in the books. The Browns have a good infield—good pitching."

Milnar laughed when he was asked, "what's been the matter with Cleveland these past few years?"

"Nothing much," the 6-foot, 1-inch hurler replied. "Everybody asks that one. Nothing's the matter with the Indians. They've been in good spirit since that 1940 rift. They just can't seem to win. Why? I don't know—nobody else does. It's nothing you can put your finger on—just one of those things."

LOSS OF KELTNER

BLOW TO INDIANS

(By Associated Press)

DAVISVILLE, R. I., May 9.—The

Cleveland Indians play a pair of seven-inning exhibition contests at

Army camps in this area today as a prelude to the opening of their 14-game eastern invasion against the Boston Red Sox tomorrow.

The Tribe's pennant stock was several points lower today after news that Third Baseman Ken

Keltner had passed his preinduc-tion physical examination at Milwaukee and would be called for active duty in the Navy.

Keltner's loss will leave the club with the absolute minimum of four infielders. Jimmy Grant, obtained last year from the Chicago White

Sox, will inherit the third base post.

Grant, along with Shortstop-Manager Lou Boudreau and Mickey

Rocco, is 4-F, but Second Baseman

Russ Peters is 1-A. In an emergency Outfielder Roy Cullenbine could play third base and Pitcher

Steve Gromek has seen service at the hot corner.

Keltner quit his Milwaukee war job to report to the Indians' spring training camp and asserted at the time, "I'm a ballplayer and I'll continue to play until I am called for duty in the armed services." Several days later he was reclassified from 2-B to 1-A.

Mel Harder, who has spent 17 seasons in the major leagues, all with the Indians, will try for his 200th mound victory in the series opener against the Red Sox.

Five Class "A", Four "B" Teams Ready To Play But Additional Clubs Needed

With an assured field of five teams in Class A and four in Class B and several teams still to be heard from, the two city softball leagues are slated to get under way Monday, according to Joe Kelley, league manager, who set the deadline for entries in the leagues at Thursday night.

Kelley has been guaranteed five entries in Class A, including his own championship Recreation outfit, a Paxson team, Monk's aggregation and an entry from The Salem News and the Salem China company.

Plans call for closing of entries Thursday night and Kelley is anxious to get at least one more team in Class A and two in Class B. Several of the local plants have signified interest in the leagues but Kelley hasn't any word yet regarding teams from them. Players and teams interested are urged to contact Kelley at the Memorial building as soon as possible.

In Class B the Columbians will participate, along with the Rams, the Zion church representatives and the Park A. C. squad. Several other junior league organizations have signified intentions of getting teams together and Kelley expects to have at least two six-team leagues by Thursday's deadline.

Open Season Monday

Schedules for the season's first round, slated to begin next Monday night, will be drawn up Friday, Kelley said, and will be announced either Friday or Saturday of this week.

Back again for another crack at their championship in Class A will be the strong Recreation squad. Of the winning team they had last season, the Recs have only lost two men.

Red Hall will be missing in the left field spot for 1944 and Bill

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, May 9.—In a bulletin urging all National Boxing association members to foster boxing in schools for its physical training value and to prepare future soldiers for more serious fighting, Abe Greene says: "Do not let them any longer feel that boxing is exclusively of the out-moded rowdy school."

It was hardly necessary to explain that this program has nothing to do with developing guys who'll hand out a punch in the nose for the cash involved. . . . Billy Thompson, the Nashville Banner sports scribe, claims a record in receiving three "count 'em" greetings from Uncle Sam in three weeks.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Jimmie Murphy, Canton, Ill. Daily Ledger: "So Charlie Grimm returns to the Chicago Cubs as manager. . . . Well, if nothing else, the club is certain to have a good banjo player." (Eds Note: Off the weekend results, it is nothing else, and you can't make baseballs with a banjo.)

A ROOKIE A DAY

Hal Kleine, Indians' pitcher: Spent his kid days in St. Louis cultivating the friendship of Al Smith, the Tribe's only other lefty, but 20-year-old Hal got to be a big leaguer a lot faster than Al did. . . . As a child Kleine burned two fingers on his right hand so badly he became a portlander. . . . Once pitcher of two games of American Legion ball in one afternoon, allowing one and two hits. . . . In his first start this year limited the White Sox to five blows in seven innings.

Flashes Of Life

(By Associated Press)

EAST LIVERPOOL, A New order

by Service-Safety Director Vincent

McGehee promises a week's bread and water diet for habitual drunkards found loitering in downtown streets.

CINCINNATI—Marshall Williams,

32, entered a drug store to make a telephone call. The manager, unaware that Williams was in the telephone booth, locked the door and went home.

His call completed, Williams emerged into darkness, called police for help. It took two hours to find out the name of the manager, and it was 1 a. m. before Williams got out.

SPRINGFIELD—School children collected 10,000 pounds of tin

cans, then watched Hazel

Abston christen the railroad car of scrap with a bottle of pop.

CANTON — A harassed shopper with arms full of parcels boarded the bus, observers reported, and looked just like any other shopper, except for one thing—there was a large nude of roast of beef draped over one arm.

MANSFIELD — A white rock

chicken on a local farm laid an egg weighing almost eight ounces and measuring 7½ by 10 inches. The egg was placed in a downtown window to dispel skeptics' doubts.

MARION—A trio of women workers who share-a-ride to work were perturbed one morning when their car stopped dead quite a distance from their plant.

ANOTHER GOOD FARM TO PLEASE THE EYE OF ANY GOOD FARMER!

Here is a good 79-acre farm located about four miles south of Salem in excellent neighborhood. This farm lays high and level and the soil is in a high state of cultivation. Can be farmed with a tractor. Is improved with good 10-room house under slate roof. Electricity and water in the house.
 Large bank barn under slate roof. Barn is equipped with stanchions for about 12 cows. Water in barn. Wagon shed and other necessary outbuildings. This is a new listing now placed on the market for the first time. If you are honestly in the market for a farm that will be a money-maker, this one should fill your most exacting requirements. The buildings alone could hardly be constructed today at our low price of only $7,000.

DEATHS

MRS. WALTER CARNES

Mrs. Emma E. Carnes, 36, of R. D. 1, Beloit, died in Salem City hospital Monday, after a four weeks' illness.

Born in McDonald, Pa., March 7, 1908, she had resided in the Beloit vicinity four years.

Surviving are her husband, Walter Carnes, at home; seven children, four sons, Walter Jr., Jesse, Ralph and Edward Carnes; three daughters, Alice Ethel and Patty Lou Carnes, all at home; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Roach of Frankford Springs, Pa.; three sisters, Mrs. Milton Hill of Sebring; Mrs. Mona White and Mrs. Ernest Dewell of Pennsylvania; two brothers, Charles Roach of Frankford Springs, Pa. and Edward Roach of Shippingsport, Pa.

Funeral service will be held at the Moorman funeral home at 2 p. m. Wednesday. Friends may call at the funeral home from 7 to 9 tonight.

MRS. BERTHA HANNAY

Mrs. Bertha Hannay, widow of Robert Hannay, former Salem resident, died in Toledo this morning following an operation. Mrs. Hannay, an aunt of O. G. and Arthur Stark of Salem, had made her home in Toledo for some time.

Surviving are two sons, Walter and Frank of Toledo, and a brother, Mrs. Hannay was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gottlieb Stark of this city.

MRS. ELIZABETH HOLBEN

COLUMBIANA, May 9. — Mrs. Elizabeth Holben, 89, widow of Edward Holben, died at 9:30 p. m. Monday at her home in Calla, following two weeks' illness.

Born July 18, 1854, on the farm in Green township where she died, she was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Miller. She was married Oct. 5, 1885. Her husband died in 1939. Mrs. Holben was a member of the Calla Evangelical church.

Surviving are one son, Ernest L. Holben of Calla; one daughter, Mrs. Harman Lesher of Columbianna; two grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral service will be at 2 p. m. Thursday at the Calla Evangelical church. Burial will be in the Calla cemetery.

Friends may call at the family residence Wednesday evening.

SAMUEL J. WELSH

EAST PALESTINE, May 9. — Funeral service for Samuel J. Welsh, 64, who died suddenly Monday at his home south of here, presumably of a heart attack, will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday in the VanDyke funeral home.

A son of David and Elizabeth Hinkle Welsh, Mr. Welsh was born Dec. 6, 1879, and had been a dairy farmer in this area for many years. He was formerly manager of the dairy at the Firestone Farms near Columbianna and recently had been employed at North Heights dairy, Route 7.

Besides his wife, the former Miss Sarah Buecker, whom he married in 1911, Mr. Welsh leaves five sons, Earl of Columbianna, Lloyd at home, Corp. Paul, Corp. Wilbur and Pfc. Glenn, all with the armed forces, and two daughters, Miss Dorothy and Miss Betty, both at home.

Burial will take place in Columbianna. Friends may call at the funeral home Wednesday night.

WACs To Have Niftier Uniforms For Off-Duty

WASHINGTON, May 9. — The off-duty WAC in off-duty khaki, will be a slicker chick, come mid-summer.

Col. Oveta Culp Hobby, WAC commandant, said the new uniforms will be of washable, crease-resistant rayon shantung, extra broad shoulders, inverted pleats up from the waistline and of military beige for summer and horizon tan for winter. The winter uniform will be pure wool crepe.

A special recruiting campaign begins Thursday and the new uniform is expected to do its part.

Candidate Nevertheless

GALLIPOLIS, May 9. — This political advertisement, appeared on the front page of yesterday's Gallipolis Daily Tribune:

"Anyhow, he's running. I am a candidate for a second term as Republican state central committee member, but can think of no good reason why I should be elected or why my opponent should be defeated."

It was signed by Earl W. Mauck, associate editor of the Tribune. His opponent is B. Lewis Jones of Rio Grande.

Cleveland Named

WASHINGTON, May 9. — Fordyce W. Lukert, who has been in charge of the Cleveland office of the Civil Service commission, was named yesterday as chief of the commission's investigation division.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Eddy Gilmore of The Associated Press Moscow staff is visiting the Polish army on the first Ukrainian front, the farthest west any correspondent has been since the Russian-German war started.)

By EDDY GILMORE

ENROUTE TO THE POLISH ARMY STATION ON THE FIRST UKRAINIAN FRONT IN RUSSIA, May 8. — One of the greatest scars on the body of Russia is an old Jewish city which the Germans bombed, burned and dynamited until only the remnants remain.

Strange shapes and scenes appear at the outskirts. "Right here is what is left of the old Jewish cemetery," said the Polish lieutenant with whom I was riding in a Dodge. "Look what the Nazis did to it."

A gigantic tank trap had been made of the tombstones. The cemetery itself, which lies south of a highway and railroad crossing, looked as if a giant armed with a telephone pole had marched through, clubbing every tombstone on the landscape.

Bodies beneath apparently had not been disturbed.

The high crossing at the rail line had been a German defense stronghold as the Red army pushed toward the eastern and northeastern suburbs of the city. The Germans had raided the cemetery for material to build Russian tanks.

Soviet guidebooks say that in 1928 the town's population was 65 per cent Jewish, 15 per cent Ukrainian, 10 per cent Russian, seven per cent Polish and three per cent miscellaneous. We passed through the town in the early afternoon and in the place where once 100,000 lived we saw no more than 10 civilians, and these were mostly on the outskirts.

The center of the city was a mass of rubble of broken sawtooth walls and buildings without roofs, fronts and windows. The former monastery of the "barefooted Carmelites" is mostly in ruins.

HOLD MAHONING

the entire vote in Mahoning county at the time of the official count.

In Youngstown, John C. Vitullo, Democratic chairman of the board of elections and Atty. T. Lamar Jackson, senior Republican member of the board, said it is immaterial whether the secretary of state impounds the ballots after the unofficial count since the ballots in any case are impounded by the board of elections after that count is made.

Jackson said no report of any order from secretary of state with respect to impounding of the ballots had been received by members of the board.

"The statute provides for the preservation of ballots after election," Jackson said. "No evidence of any irregularities x x requiring action by the secretary of state has been brought to my attention."

Vitullo said that he had received no word of any order for impounding and knew of no reason or evidence which would warrant the secretary of state's action.

"If the secretary of state has information which warrants such action certainly there can be no objection to the step he has taken," Vitullo said.

OHIO VOTERS

vote today is light, it might give some clue as to how Ohio will go in November.

Both Mayor James Garfield Stewart of Cincinnati and Lieut. Gov. Paul M. Herbert offered figures in support of claims they were selected today as the G. O. P. nominee for governor. Mayor Stewart's backers predicted he would get 48 per cent of the total Republican vote while Herbert said he expected 188,325 votes if only a half million persons go to the polls.

The other two Republican candidates—Atty. Gen. Thomas J. Herbert and Albert G. Payne, Springfield manufacturer-farmer—were equally confident of victory.

The six Democratic candidates are Mayor Frank J. Lausche of Cleveland; James W. Huffman of Columbus; Francis Reams of Toledo; Walter Baertschi of Toledo; Martin L. Sweeney of Cleveland, and Frank A. Dye of Columbus.

U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati, like several of the incumbent congressmen, had no opposition today. Three candidates sought the right to oppose Sen. Taft in the November election. They were William G. Pickrel of Dayton, Marvin C. Harrison of Cleveland, and John Taylor of Salem.

The War Today

By DeWitt MacKenzie

man people are responsible. We know how dictators can and do dominate their people.

"I am not one to want the extermination of the entire German nation," said Mr. Masaryk, "but after the last war we lost the peace by not persuading the German nation that she was beaten."

Masaryk, whose little country has suffered so terribly at the hands of the Nazis, might have gone on to point out that the Nazi warfare is a throwback to blackest barbarism. It has involved not only the subjection of many countries to servitude but the wholesale massacre of scores of thousands of civilians. However, that wouldn't disprove the claim that not all Germans are responsible.

There have been few thus far to argue that the entire German nation shouldn't be held responsible for the war crime. That isn't to say that there aren't good Germans, for of course there are. However, it's equally true that the German people made it possible for Hitler to wage war by their tacit, or not outright, approval and help. The German people voted Hitler into power, and then stood for his bloody aggression.

THERE'S NO WAY of separating the sheep from the goats, and, unless we change the rules of the game as laid down by the Allies, Germany as a whole must pay. This means that Nazism and Prussian militarism are to be uprooted and utterly destroyed. It means that many who are guilty of making this war must suffer death or imprisonment. It means that those who have participated in atrocities must answer for their crimes. After all that has been taken care of, we expect to turn to and help Germany get established as an honest, democratic nation.

It may be that there must be some dismemberment of Germany. This possibility is indirectly foreseen by the Soviet trade union journal, "War and the Working Class," which takes sharp issue with the argument heard in some quarters that the Atlantic charter precludes such dismemberment. The paper maintains in an article by Prof. Boris Stein, former chief of the press department of the foreign commissariat, that while the charter sets forth correctly the general principle of peace, it must be left open to discussion to keep up with changes in the situation.

It will be interesting to see where ther Allied attitude towards Germany softens after we have seen the bloody results of the forthcoming invasion. Most of the troops going ashore in western Europe are our Yankee boys. Should Germany be made to understand that aggression doesn't pay?
